

MORNING APPEAL

TUESDAY, MAY 1

L. P. Fisher, newspapers advertising agent, 21 Merchants' Exchange, San Francisco, is our authorized agent. This paper is kept on file in his office.

CROWLEY AND CANAVAN.

Crowley's sweep of the corrupt Police department calls to mind the exciting municipal primaries when he first asked for the nomination of Chief on the Democratic ticket in the early days. Matt Canavan was the opponent. Both men were prime favorites and the contest was so hot that the Presidential election was almost wholly lost sight of. Both men were fast friends and either would have scorned to take the slightest advantage. As the fight progressed, however, the principals discovered that the zeal of their followers was something appalling, and the fight at the primaries was a carnival of fights, intimidation, bribery, and ballot stuffing. In many precincts they voted up to midnight. Next morning the two men met and canvassed the situation.

"Matt," said Crowley, "I do really believe that they have counted you out by the d—dest lot of dirty work I ever heard of."

"Pat," said Canavan, "I am sure you won the fight, but my boys have staffed ballot boxes 'till h—I won have it. It's the toughest election I ever saw."

The two finally agreed to abide by the result, the loser to make no kick.

The party proclaimed Crowley the winner, and Canavan spent a week setting up champagne to ratify the nomination. The two men were the fastest friends up to the time of Canavan's death. The election gave San Francisco an honest and fearless Chief of Police, but had the count been in favor of Canavan, it would have been the same, as he was a sterling man in all respects and honest to the core. The best evidence of Crowley's honesty is that his clerk has a $100,000 ranch, and the chief, after opportunities to make millions, struggles along with a mortgage on his home.

COAST NEWS.

The Monitor and Jim Crow mines in the Ferguson district, Nevada, have been sold to J. R. Delamar for $150,000.

At Los Gatos, Saturday, Sam Reynolds, a truckman, was thrown from his loaded truck, two wheels of which run over his neck and face. If he should recover he will be badly disfigured.

George Barkdull, fifteen years of age, living at Swanger, Humboldt county, was thrown from and dragged to death by his horse Wednesday afternoon. The horse went home and attracted attention by stamping on the porch. On coming out to see what was the matter the boy's body was found to be hanging from the clench of the saddle, in which a spur on the boy's foot had become fastened.

Suicide at Austin.

Ex-Senator J. R. Williamson committed suicide at Austin on Saturday by shooting himself in the head with a revolver, dying soon after.

The dispatches assign no reason for the suicide, but the General lost his son here during a session of the Legislature, and it is probable that brooding over this unbalanced his mind.

Mr. Williamson served the State honestly, ably and fearlessly, and his colleagues and many friends will regret to hear of his untimely end.

A Peculiar Accident.

A. J. Gould, an old and respected resident of Plumas county, met his death last Saturday in a peculiar and shocking manner. He was walking on snowshoes along the side of a ravine and slipped, falling over an embankment about ten feet high. He struck on his head, breaking his neck. The body then rolled into Cold Water Creek, where it was with difficulty recovered.

Mr. Gould was the inventor of the Gould water wheel, and had patented a number of other devices.—Journal.

The Carson Junior Turn Verein are talking of having a ladies' club and let them practice one or two nights in the weeks.

Card from Dr. Guinan.

ED. APPEAL:—Permit me to correct a misstatement made by the editor of the Tribune in this evening's issue.

Mr. Olsovich and myself are charged with not permitting Mr. Meder to present the name of his candidate, Miss Curry, at the recent election of a teacher.

Miss Gladding, a very estimable young lady, was Mr. Meder's choice first, last and all the time.

If the editor of the Tribune thinks that Mr. Meder is the kind of a man not to be allowed to give utterance to his mind in any place or on any occasion, he has got the gentleman "put up" wrongly.

So far as his animadversive remarks concerning me are concerned, I care naught. I prefer his censure to his commendation.

Respectfully,
J. GUINAN.

April 30th, 1894.

G. A. R. Music.

Music for the G. A. R. Campfire and Ball will be furnished by the following named gentlemen:

L. Zimmer, violin,
J. P. Meder, Piano,
Al Smith, 1st cornet,
H. Lemmon, 2nd cornet,
Jas G. Meder, basso,
Jas Denning, prompter.

Mr. Smith has arranged the choice music for the occasion.

Baseball was the attraction Sunday. At the Silver Street ground the C. C.'s defeated the School boys by a score of 29 to 4. The Opaans' Home Nine was beaten by a club of small Carson boys. Score, 29 to 20. Two nines of the Turn Verein's tied each other, each having 16. The Riverside Club came in a big wagon from Empire at 2:30 p. m. A friendly game was played with them by a picked nine of the C. C. and D. D. clubs. Score, 19 to 6, in favor of Carson.

It was reported yesterday that Albert had hired a Chinaman named Billy to kill Sue Kee that the former might secure wood contracts. The authorities are investigating.
